Dear All,

This channeled writing begins with a question from me to my spirit guides about the Harmonic Concordance followed by their answer written down in a continuous stream of energetic 'thought'. When the word 'you' is used it is personal but universally may include you.

As my Guidance says:

"Child, be aware first and foremost that the energetic dialogues we have are for your benefit mostly. What is gathered or gleamed by others is for their benefit, but primarily in dialogue with us you are accessing your guidance. All others have their own Divine guidance. You are sharing by example, a method that others may use to address their own unique Divinity. Therefore, at no time is the information that we pass on you to be considered for more than just you. It is vital that you appreciate all have access to their Divinity and the goal for others, that you make an inner connection to us with your writing, is merely for them to hear that they can do it too.

What may be found as important or necessary for others is the universality of information present. Much of the information that we present will be in the form of dialogue exchanges from your heart to ours. In this manner will information come to the forefront to be disseminated. Generally, with eyes wide open this information should be applied by you and taken with a grain of salt by all others; meaning that the healthiness of a Spirit being Human lies in the faithfulness and dedication to the call and working of their own heart."

Dearest Friends, (Group of my Higher Self)

Today is the apex of the 'Harmonic Concordance' and its meaning and significance for us here on the planet Earth. I know that I mustn't miss you out, so I acknowledge you saying it's a big deal for you too.

So...in your eyes, with your perspective, what is the significance for us? What does this portend? How can I celebrate this energy and the sun's flaring? How does that affect us? I ask you now dear friends to gather close in and be with me here. I welcome you.

Sweet Child, feel our presence. Love us and we will flow that love back to you.

Welcome also, Child. Yes, it's true that your energy will build daily to tremendous heights; to 'shaking anxiety' because we are very close to you and you must find a way to express it or else it will flood your systems and start to 'blow your circuits'. Remember, you are primarily spirit. Your physical body fully comprehends that it receives its energy and motivation from spirit. However it is your willingness to allow the energy of spirit to descend into your physical body that maintains an open circuit. If your will/ego blocks the flow then you force the energy to back up/round up on its self continually pushing more energy into a tighter, tighter circle which then begins to push against its boundaries, i.e. your physical body, hence the discomfort. If you will imagine an angry creature trying to get out of its cage that is what the energy feels like if it doesn't 'get out'.

Spirit needs to channel. It needs its channel. It needs a 'pipe' to flow out from, out your physical body. Built up energy is like a sewage pipe constantly pumping, pumping against a block. Unless allowed to flow easily in a gentle manner it backs up and causes a stink. (Laughter) You have actively allowed us to flow into your pipe. By blocking our flow even if it is just through, "Later, I will get to you later," then the flow starts to back up.

We understand that you are not consciously/willfully blocking us out. It simply is the need for energy to flow unhindered. This is simply the nature of energy. Its always moving and always creating, transforming.

Your love is like this for indeed love and energy are synonymous. They are the same. Allow your love to flow freely from your heart to yourself and others as compassion. We love that you are re-programming your judgment for that means you are unblocking your opening to spirit/love/ energy and the Divine. You are revealing your true self. Remember Child it all flows. Therefore allow it.

The Harmonic Concordance.

This is an opening for Planet Earth to move into. It is a cosmic 'sign' that you are on the right path. Do not be in despair about much of what you witness by living on the planet Child. Imagine a child's toy box full of 3-D squares that have the alphabet and pictures on them. Imagine as a child opens the box all of the squares are jumbled up mostly except in one corner they appear balanced and in order, as if someone already came in and started to tidy up. But no one knows who. In this corner 3-D squares are balanced creating a name and that name is LOVE. See the significance of LOVE and BALANCE. They are very meaningful.

Allow yourself to play with the idea that the child in this scenario is your collective higher self. Yes, including us, the unseen, on this side of the veil. We are positioned to assist 'the child' to start to move the 3-D /squares/ blocks into position, to tidy up if you will, the 'mess', the imbalance that have been created for so long by Human Beings who have forgotten who they are. Your toy box needs a serious spring-cleaning. It is out of balance mostly, but not totally, and it is out of balance in relation to elevation status, to the 'coming home' status.

Yes, Child we hear your question. Yes, you are home but is this really the home that you wish to reside in? You can change the way your home looks and currently much raising of consciousness needs to take place for the homecoming celebration to be truly a celebration. Primarily most of you on planet Earth need to remember that they are creators, gods as you put it and are responsible for the messy toy box. It's time, from our point of view to bring all the toy box pieces into place by a gentle reminder: Come home! but first put your toys away.

(Yes, Child making a 'toy box' with things that remind you of home in it with the Star of David as you call it on the lid would indeed continue to remind you of what the mission is from now on.) Pay attention, accept responsibility for what has been created and change it, re-order it back into balance. This is the greatest service mankind can give back to the Creator. Yes to yourself and yes to 'THE ALL'. You are blessed, Child among the chosen and you are all chosen because you have come to realize this about your life: who you are and what your purpose is in this lifetime.

We understand you slip into despair. If you didn't despair Child you wouldn't take any of this seriously. See your despair as tangible evidence that what your service is, is serious and therefore important, necessary, essential. You are blessed and in your ceremony tomorrow with your friends we suggest that you implement that blessing into your hearts. Despair fuels a sense of aloneness and challenges the knowing that you are not alone performing this 'work'/purpose.

Do not be deceived by the limitation of your eyes to perceive others who are working closely with you in your endeavor to restore balance. There are MANY including us and we are legion. Acknowledge your despair to one another. Acknowledge your challenges. Note as you welcome in this new sign/energy that you are overwhelmed by the enormity of this project. Acknowledge that you feel that you have bitten off more than you can chew. You will experience as you listen to yourself and others that you are supported. See the smiles of your loving friends' supporting you and encouraging you as we are most lovingly doing on this side of the veil. Your friends will do for you what you are not able at this time to see from us that your work is important and must truly be recognized as such.

There is much reverence on this side of the veil for you all who perform the work of rebalancing. You walk in great majesty to us. We applaud small and large steps alike, including the feeling of despair. For again, here we witness you take your job seriously.

So we thank you. We thank you for striving and moving forward when you are not able to see the results. Know you're being applauded and celebrated. Know that your challenges are witnessed and your endeavors celebrated. No Human Being could be asked to do more in service to All That Is than to support the energy of Home on your side of the veil. Know this is true, Child. Know that as an affirmation of your choosing to continue this path on planet Earth.

This is enough for now, child. Celebrate this event Child. Feel within your heart the sense of accomplishment. Celebrate what has been achieved in spite of what your 'eyes' tell you and affirm for others the right-mindedness of their actions. And do for others, smiling upon them, to reassure their wavering hearts to continue this high-minded/god-like task.

In love and light go peacefully upon your path and light candles of love in the hearts of your fellow travelers. In deep respect and love we leave your energy in this manner. Till next time, we remain present and with love.

Your Guiding Friends of Light.
